Fire Danger is HIGH on the Flathead Indian Reservation

July 22, 2026 - Ronan, Montana –Wildland fire officials with the Confederated Salish and Kootenai Tribes Division of Fire have determined the fire danger within the Flathead Indian Reservation will remain at HIGH. The weather forecast calls for temperatures in the 90's and wind gusts in the upper 20's. Residents and Visitors are asked to use caution when outdoors.

High fire danger means that dry grasses and needles ignite easily, fires can spread rapidly and may be difficult to control. There are no restrictions in place at this time, but residents and visitors are urged to exercise caution when recreating outdoors

The public needs to be safe when outdoors. Do not drive or park in tall grass. Farmers should hay in the mornings or late evenings. Unattended campfires are likely to escape. Always attend your campfire and use established fire rings. Remember to completely drown your campfire with water, stir the coals and embers, then drown again and make sure the campfire is cool to the touch. If it is too hot to touch, it is too hot to leave.

Debris burning is illegal during fire season! July 1 – September 30.

Do your part to prevent a wildfire spark! One less spark is one less wildfire!
